END OF COMPETITION

Limitations Agreement
New Operative Following Formal Function.

By The Associated Press Governmental leaders of the British and Japanese converging around the day on attainment by the naval limitation treaty of effectiveness, hailed that as signifying the end of competitive naval building among the great powers.

The final act in the process of the naval treaty into full effect was performed at noon when British and Japanese representatives of the momentous agreement were deposited at the foreign offices in London.

Daves Represents U. S.

Representative Daves deposited the ratification in person.
Secretary Arthur Henderson was present at the ceremony and British and Ambassador for Japan.

The French and Italian ambassasors witnessed the ceremony but did not sit at the table with the delegates.

The British foreign office ceremony lasted 10 minutes. A while before President Hoover, Prime Minister MacDonald and Premier Hamaguchi exchanged their views on the occasion was a bright aurora for peace.

The speeches were broadcast internationally from Washington, London and Tokyo.

They emphasized that the treaty marks the first time all types of naval building by the United States, Great Britain and Japan have agreed to limit their arms without becoming parties to the treaty which limits strength of the seas.

President Hoover said those two nations, while "not as yet full partners in the treaty, were seeking each an understanding. He expressed the confident hope that peace and good-will may yet lead to a solution."

MacDonald Hoped

Prime Minister MacDonald, who expressed the ceremony of deposit.
He voiced an earnest hope that negotiations between France and Italy "may before long reach a successful issue."

Premier Hamaguchi declared that the pact was "bound to exercise a powerful influence."

Annual Peat Bog Fire Threatens Buildings

By The Associated Press

WILLARD, O., Oct. 27.—

Peat bog fires today threatened the safety of a group of buildings in the New Pittsburgh farming district.

The blaze which generally comes each fall with dry weather, has been burning for two weeks in the bog four miles south of here. For the first time buildings were threatened yesterday and tractors were sent out by the county to turn up a protective trench. Fire departments from Willard and Plymouth also turned out.

County engineers said the peated road through the community was threatened with undermining.

EASTERN OHIO COUNTIES BACK OF McCULLOCH

Factional Disputes Dropped as Forces Line Up for Senator's Re-election.

STRENGTH ON INCREASE

Cooper Also Shows Formidable Lead in Forecast of Nov. 4 Vote.

By Joseph K. VODREY

Staff Correspondent for The Star

LISBON, O., Oct. 27.—Columbiana and Jefferson counties, the two strongest units in the 18th congressional district, have forgotten factional disputes of the primaries and are working to give Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton a good lead over his wet Democratic opponent, Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland.

Columbiana, which has the heaviest vote of the five counties in the district, expects to give the heavy of the Republican ticket anywhere from 10,000 to 12,000 majority. Political observers expect Congressman Frank Murphy of Steubenville to lead the county ticket in his sixth campaign to win election as U. S. representative.

All Columbiana county is still talking of the visits Senator Mc-Culloch and Governor Myers Y.

Cooper paid during the last several weeks. The trips of the two candidates into the county has served as the impetus to arouse general interest in the Nov. 4 election.

Cooper's speech at Salem has put new life into the entire county executive committee while there has been a tremendous growth in the McCulloch sentiment since the senator toured the county.

Win Increased Support

Although Cooper was already well known in this section of the state his recent visit gained him a lot of new friends. McCulloch, on the other hand, came into the county a total stranger and departed, leaving electors everywhere impressed with his capability and sincerity.

Cooper starts in Columbiana county with one unassailable advantage—the popularity of a number of his appointed officials. Two men prominent in state activities, Dr.

Chauncey McCandless of Salem the state veterinarian, and Will T.

Blake, director of industrial relations, were taken from Columbiana county to fill state posts.

Dr. McCandless is coming into Columbiana county this week to canvasse the field for votes for the

FISHERMEN WILL REALIZE DREAMS WHEN MT. GILEAD PARK OPENS

Four views of the state game preserve nearing completion at Mt. Gilead are shown above. The spawning pool near the spillway is shown in the upper left photo. Opposite is pictured the second lake looking west toward the dam. This lake will be used for fishing. A view of one of the 90-foot concrete spillways is shown in the lower left while the lower right picture shows the bank of the east lake and a section of the woods. The portrait is of C. W. McFarland, superintendent.

Through funds from money paid for licenses by hunters and fishermen, the state has constructed two artificial lakes on a 165-acre tract of land just outside the city limits here. When completed approximately 400,000 will have been spent on the project.

THE game preserve will form one of the most beautiful spots in Morrow county, if not in the entire state. It is in a natural location, thickly covered by trees with high hills bordering on either side. A touch of wildness gives it an atmosphere conducive to the spirit of outdoor life.

Although it will become most popular as a fishing center, the preserve will have an even greater influence upon the future of fish and wild animal life of this district. No hunting will be permitted so that the land not taken up by the lakes will be used to propagate wild game. One of the two lakes will be used as a spawn-

Recruiting Officer To Speak on Navy Day

Navy day observances here will apparently be limited to a talk in the American Legion tonight on South High street tonight by Thomas O. Shivers, naval recruiting agent. Legionnaires, war veterans and visitors are invited.

Today has been designated as navy day because it is the birthday anniversary of former President Theodore Roosevelt, whose interest in naval activities was responsible for major improvements in the navy.

HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

William Dixon, 25, giving his address as Marion, is awaiting arraignment in municipal court on a charge of larceny with the theft of a suitcase at Union station here Aug. 28 from Mrs. Thad D. Hale. He was arrested in Ellettsville yesterday by local police who claim to have linked him with the theft.

CAR OVERTURNS

Frank Oberdier, employee of the McDaniel Motor Co., escaped with out injury when his Dodge coupe left the road a short distance south of here Sunday night, overturning in the ditch. Oberdier was driving toward Marion on Prospect Pike when the accident occurred. His companion was also uninjured.

ACIDITY

Slams More Doors Than Temper!

"Tough" and grouchy husbands are often only sick men! It's acid in their systems speaking when they bark and growl.

Excess acid formed in the stomach causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. It sets up putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines which spread poisons through the system and make us weak, tired, nervous and irritable.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. This new acid corrective comes in the form of a small, white tablet, called Magnesia Oxidized. Magnesia Oxidized upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generates a potent active oxygen. Now, as any doctor will tell you, active oxygen when created within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks putrefaction and fermentation in the intestines. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to a real correction of acidity.

Make this Acidity Test
See for yourself how much acid has to do with your indigestion, your crummy spells, your blue days and sleepless nights. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxidized from Padley's Drug Store or any other druggist.

Take two after each meal. Note the pickup in your pep and vigor. Mark the new pace of your stomach and nerve. If, after taking the contents of one bottle, you don't notice a decided improvement in your condition, return the bottle to your druggist and he will promptly refund your money. Adv.

Bucyrus will also be host to more than 100 delegates Tuesday and Wednesday when St. Paul's Lutheran Women's Missionary society will entertain the Central conference of the local church. Speakers for the two-day event are: Miss Jessie Thomas returned missionary from India, who will speak Tuesday evening; Miss Alfred J. Fender of Ellettsville and Mrs. H. C. Bell, field secretary of the United Lutheran church of America.

TO BURY MARION WOMAN TUESDAY

Services for Mrs. Alice Smithers To Be Held Here at Funeral Home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Smithers, 74, who died Saturday at 1 p. m. at her home at 181 Superior street, will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the W. C. Boyd funeral home on South Main street.

Rev. E. Radebaugh, pastor of Calvary Evangelical church, will be in charge. Short services will be held at the home at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Smithers was born March 4, 1856, in Pickaway county to David and Elizabeth Burdett Simmons, both deceased. Her marriage to Ira L. Smithers, who is living, took place in 1879 in Harlem, O. She was a member of the Church of God.

Two sons are living, C. K. Smithers of 181 Superior street and L. E. Smithers of Marion, R. F. D. No. 6. Two daughters, Marion Simmons of Wheatridge, Colo., and Elliott Simmons of Manchester, Tenn., are living.

The body was removed to the home on Superior street Sunday night and may be viewed there until Tuesday at 9 a. m. when it will be removed to the funeral home for services. Interment will be made in Marion cemetery.

Siamese Twins Here for Theater Engagement

Lucio and Simplicio Godino, the only living male Siamese twins, came to Marion yesterday morning accompanied by their brides, and were met by Mayor L. Don Jones.

An informal reception for them was held in the lobby of the Marion hotel, with several local officials present.

The twins and their wives will be at the Ohio theater all this week.

REVIVAL SERVICE OPENS

There was one response to the altar call last night at the opening of revival services at Calvary Evangelical church. Rev. E. Radebaugh, pastor, who will conduct the services until the arrival of Rev. Raymond Bush of Sebring, preached on the need of a revival and the attendant results of a genuine revival.

Announcement was made of prayer meeting at 7 p. m. preceding the services each night at 7:30.

STREET OPEN FROM CENTER TO COLUMBIA

Another Section Now in Use as Contractors Push Paving Work.

More than half of the section of Main street being resurfaced had been completed and thrown open to traffic at noon today. Contractors opened the section between Church and Columbia streets to completion this morning, leaving the street open between Center and Columbia streets.

Meantime, work on the section between Center street and the railroad tracks was being pushed forward rapidly. Barring bad weather and mishaps, this section should be done by Thursday night or Friday morning, according to Service Director D. J. Harlow.

The entire job is scheduled to be completed as far north as George street by Nov. 15, but indications are that the work will be done before that time.

DISMISS MOTION

Court Disallows Plea of Ivan Peterman for Custody of Child.

Motion of the plaintiff to be awarded custody of a child now in the custody of the defendant was dismissed by common pleas court today in the case of Ivan Paul Peterman against Mary E. Peterman, who were divorced last spring.

The plaintiff at the time of the divorce was given custody of two other children but recently he filed a motion asking for custody of the third child on grounds that the defendant was not taking proper care of the child. After a hearing today, however, the court dismissed the motion.

J. H. Eymon represented the plaintiff and L. E. Myers was attorney for the defendant.

Executor Named

John H. Kemmerer today was appointed by probate court as executor of the estate of Solomon Kemmerer.

TO HOLD HEARING TUESDAY

Lloyd Cornwell, 29, of 239 North Prospect street, is awaiting hearing in municipal court Tuesday on charges of driving with improper lights, no muffler, and with improper license plates. The aggregation of offenses caused Cornwell's name to go on the municipal court docket instead of the traffic court docket. He pleaded not guilty to all charges when arraigned, and was released on $25 bond pending hearing. He was arrested last Friday night.

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Eichhorn of the Marion and Cardington road entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner Thursday in honor of Fred Eichhorn and daughter, Mrs. Andrew Skille and her daughter, Mrs. Elinor St. Joseph, both of whom have been visiting relatives and friends here. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lemmer, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fletcher, Mrs. Laura Sweeney, Misses Josephine and Marguerite Eichhorn, Elpha and Agnes Mauller of LaRue, Dr. H. J. Eichhorn of Cardington and Gordon Eichhorn.

SENT TO WORKHOUSE

Grace Boyd, 40, of 393 Toledo avenue, was fined $250 and committed to Dayton workhouse until the fine is paid when she pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicants. She was arrested when police raided her residence Saturday night and confiscated 341 bottle of beer, almost an equal number of empty bottles, several jars and caps.

SHE COULD NOT SLEEP

GAS, GAS ALL THE TIME
"Gas on my stomach was so bad I couldn't sleep. Since taking Adlerika I sleep fine and never felt better."—Mrs. Jas. Eiler.

Unlike most remedies, Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old poisons you never thought were there and which caused gas bloating and restless sleep. The quick action is surprising. Henney & Cooper, Druggists.

STUDIES PHONE SYSTEM

H. A. Connors returned today from Chicago where he has been for two weeks studying the new teletypes and their maintenance. Mr. Connors was sent to Chicago by the Erie Railroad Co. C. E. Ackerman, telephone inspector for the Erie railroad at Gallon, left today for Chicago where he will spend two weeks at the factory studying the teletypes.

CHANCE MEETING PLACE

Minnetonka Council No. 24, Degree of Pocahontas will return to Junior Order hall for meetings beginning Tuesday when they meet at 8:30 p. m. A card party will be held Tuesday night.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will help care you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 10c, 25c and 50c. All druggists.—Adv.

"Amos 'n' Andy" Come to Palace in Long-Expected "Check and Double Check"; Siamese Twins Extra Attraction at Ohio; "Liliom" Features Marion Bill.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

THIS is the Fresh-Air Tabernacle Co. of America Incorporated. They're here! And every one in the United States knows them. No need of presenting Amos 'n' Andy's first show—every one knows who and what they are—the radio kings of America.

Business stops 15 minutes every night over the country, hotels and theaters give 15 minutes of their time to broadcasts of this famous pair of aces.

Their first talking picture, the debut of Amos 'n' Andy, "Check and Double Check" is at the Palace theater all this week. It takes a big picture to rate a week's engagement in a house that has been doing three-week for a long time, but so popular are these two black-face boys that all the fans couldn't see them in a three-day engagement.

Many of the radio fans don't know their real names, don't care to for they love Amos 'n' Andy for themselves. Amos, though, is Freeman F. Gosden, born in Richmond, Va. His father is a banker in that city. Amos is married and has two children. Andy, the "who, who" man with the "big propellations" as Charles J. Correll, born in Peoria, Ill. He, too, is married.

Negro dialect is an old story for "Amos," who was virtually reared by his old Negro "mammy" back in Virginia. He attended school in Richmond and finished at a private school in Atlanta, Ga. He got school in 16 to become a school teacher.

Andy, in his early days, carried Peoria "Journal," and "Stars" and later worked in the printing room of each paper. He obtained a job as stenographer to the city superintendent of instruction at Springfield and worked there a year.

Amos 'n' Andy year. He became "registered" with white-collar work and turned black-lavender for nine years. Between times and on various nights he and Negro parts in small theatrical companies. Later he turned out on an amateur theatrical circuit.

It was on this tour that he and Amos crossed paths. They teamed an act, stopped off in Chicago in 23 to lay the foundation of their radio career. Their initial salary was $100 a week, and they did 40 weeks a night as "Gosden and Correll." In 1929 they originated their Negro dialect and went on the air as "Sam and Henry."

Their salaries are now $150,000 each a year.

AMOS 'N' ANDY

Charles Farrell Stars in "Liliom"

TO DIE, to return to earth and to be whisked away into the heavens again. That was "Liliom's" fate in Franz Milnar's stage success by that name, to be brought to the Marion theater screen Wednesday and Thursday. Liliom has always been a fascinating character, and the story woven about him is equally interesting.

Charles Farrell won one of the fattest parts of his career when he was named to play the leading role. This is the play, by the way, which caused such a rumpus at the studio.

Siamese Twins Attraction at Ohio

Jack Holt and Ralph Graves who achieved success in "Submarine" and "Flight" come to the screen in "Hell's Island," at the Ohio tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday, with Dorothy Sebastian as their leading lady.

With the picture are the Godino Siamese twins, the only male Siamese twins in the country. There's a rather strange story about the twins.

They were born on the Island of Siam. The village physician limited in his knowledge of human anatomy, ventured the opinion that they would not live. The parents in moderate circumstances, listened to the golden talks of showmen and before the two little fellows could totter about they were placed on exhibition. They were the first male Siamese twins since the original Eng and Chang. Everything went along all right until they attempted to exhibit the boys, then under age, in New York. The showmen were arrested, the boys placed in the hands of officials and their case was given considerable space by the press.

It attracted the attention of Theodore Yanco, then Philippine commissioner to the United States, and reputed to be one of the wealthiest shipbuilders of the islands. He adopted them and they began their education with private tutors. Returning to Manila the boys entered the public schools and won a scholarship in the law school. They are married. In "Hell's Island," Holt and Graves play two Yankee legends, "The Great Gatsby" and "The Great Gatsby." The story comes to the climax of Holt's first wife, one of them is sentenced for 10 years.

HOT TAMALES Mexican jumping beans, the "Mexican Rose" with Barbara Stanwick, and Sam Hardy in the leading roles, is at the Ohio Thursday, Friday and Saturday with the Godino twins on the stage.

Barbara Stanwick has danced from her earliest childhood. When she was 12 she signed her first professional contract, to dance in the "Great Gatsby." Later she was in "The Great Gatsby." It was in this show that she first received recognition. She and five other girls were picked to do imitation numbers of the principals.

The Stars Say--

For Tuesday, Oct. 28

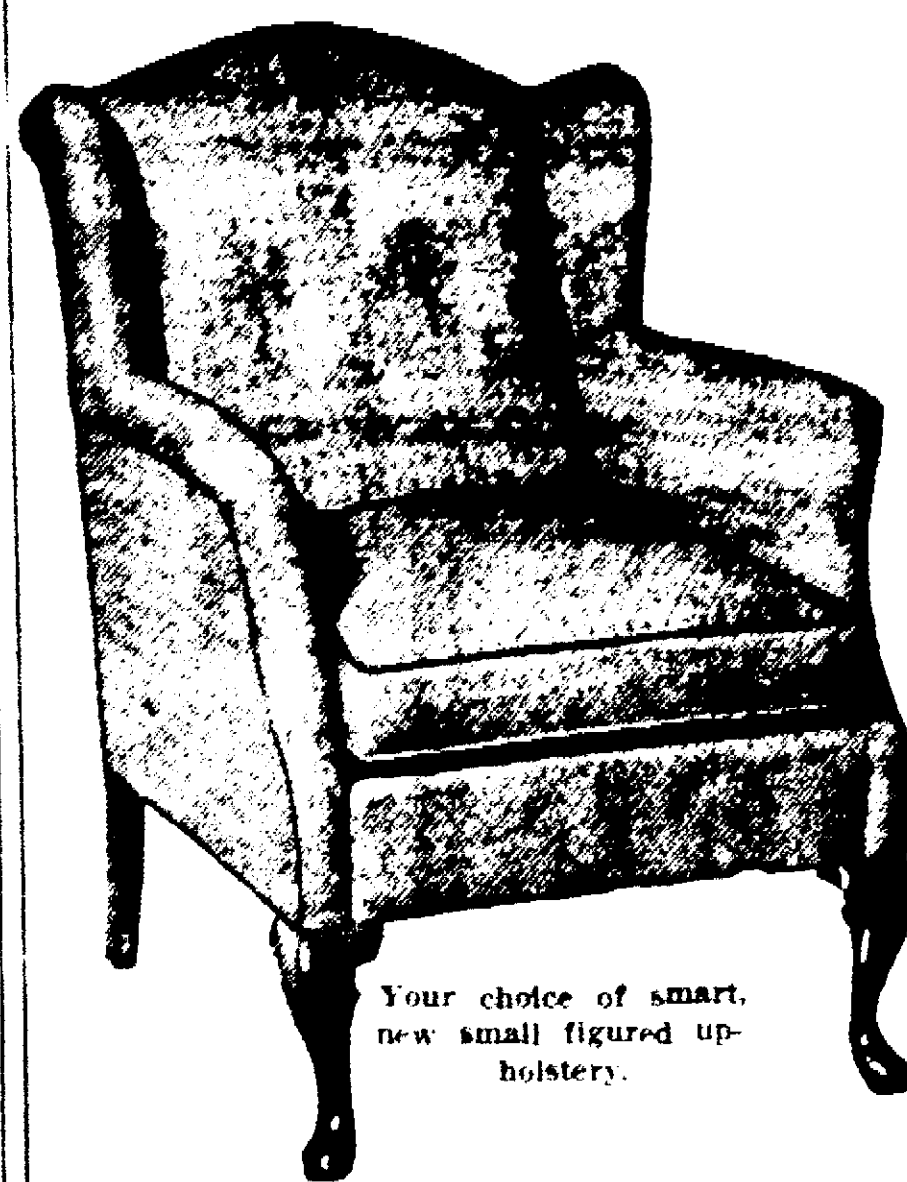

THE lunar transits bearing rule on this day point to many conflicting and disappointing events and circumstances. There is a measure of loss through litigation, speculation, bad contracts and unwise use of money in many directions. Beware of false reports, treachery, misunderstandings, and sign all writings with extreme precaution.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year calling for excellent judgment, wise counsel and extreme personal precaution, as there is a menace of unfavorable litigation, loss through bad contracts, fraud and duplicity. Sign all writings cautiously and refrain from law and speculation. A child born on this day may incline to speculation, chance and extravagant indulgence, thereby squandering its substance and possibly inviting litigation and misunderstandings.

Daily Proverb: "Anger occasioned by a trifling may extend to the sky before it ceases."

"Soviets Order Two American Engineers Out of Russia," reads a headline. That wouldn't be our idea of serious punishment.

France has ordered silver ten and twenty franc pieces to do away with her paper money of small denominations. France will hardly seem the same to Americans without her "big aret coupons" and "soap wrappers."

One of the New York state legislative candidates suggests that one of the most pressing needs of the time is a nationwide housecleaning of over 2,400,000 laws. Of course, it wouldn't do to go too far in this matter, but it would probably be safe to get rid of something like 2,399,999 of them.

And now southern Mexico reports hundreds of human lives lost and thousands of cattle destroyed by the floods raging there. Was there ever a year in which the distribution of moisture was so spotty as the present?

The Great Northern railroad has cut three hours off the running time of the "Empire Builder," which will make the run from the Pacific coast to Chicago, beginning next month, in fifty-eight hours and the westward run fifteen minutes faster. One who wants to travel faster than that hasn't any appreciation of scenery.

"Reduce prices and increase consumption" is the suggestion of a prominent New Yorker for the relief of unemployment. That plan will have the complete and enthusiastic approval of the fellow who buys but has nothing to sell.

Ballyhoo and Common Sense.

The outstanding political development in Ohio during the past week has been the increasing strength of Senator McCulloch's campaign for reelection to the United States senate.
A good many people who were deceived by the extensive ballyhoo given Mr. Bulkeley have realized that noise doesn't win races—political races or any other kind.

Mr. Bulkeley started his campaign first.
The faction which backed him raised a great hullaballoo. Those to whom they directed their appeals joined in to the end that Mr. Bulkeley's name became known widely almost overnight.
It was natural that attention should be directed to him rather than to Senator McCulloch, who has conducted his campaign on more conservative lines.

The Bulkeley ballyhoo has weakened. In some quarters it has died down completely.
In its place there is sane reasoning, a growing realization that there is work to be done.

Mr. Bulkeley, as a matter of fact, never has reached voters in the rural sections and the smaller cities, and now they and the metropolitan dyes are beginning to talk McCulloch—not loudly but with that seriousness which means business at the polls November 4.

We predict that Senator McCulloch, this newspaper's choice for the senatorship on the strength of his personal ability and the soundness of his campaign issues, will increase the lead he now holds over Mr. Bulkeley in many sections of the state. He has held it all along, but until the McCulloch supporters started to make themselves heard above the Bulkeley ballyhoo, a lot of people didn't realize it.

Argentina's newly-appointed ambassador to the United States is on his way to this country to assume his duties. Dr. Manuel Mallenas presence in Washington will fill the vacancy in the diplomatic corps there which marked a sore spot in the greatest of the Latin American republics.

A Correction.

The Star's attention was this morning called to the fact that, in voicing its wholehearted support of the candidacy of Grant E. Mouser, Jr., to succeed himself as representative of the Eighth district in the lower house of congress, a statement was made which calls for a correction.

"What the people of Marion and Marion county think of him," the clause calling for correction read, "is best told by the splendid support they have accorded him whenever he has come before them as a candidate for political preferment."

The writer of both that and this editorial had in mind the splendid support the people of his home city of Marion, the people who best know him, had given him in each of his political candidacies, and should have limited the statement to his city support.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Mouser did not carry Marion county two years ago. He carried his home city by a splendid vote, but lost the county to Brooks Fletcher, also a resident of Marion, who was seeking reelection as congressman from this district, by 128.

The Star is glad to make this correction of what was its mistake, and we hope that Congressman Mouser will forgive the making of it, as he would be the last to wish to profit through misrepresentation of any kind unintentional though it might be.

A Wonderful Defense System.

The system of fortifications which the French are building along their eastern front from Luxembourg to Switzerland, a distance of about 200 miles, is easily the most complete defensive project of all history and the most elaborate for protective purposes against a foreign foe since the Chinese constructed their Great Wall, something like 2500 years ago as a barrier against invasion by barbarian hordes from the north.

In the matter of extent the new French system, which has been in course of construction for a year and probably will not be completed for two years to come, is not to be compared with the Great Wall of China, which extends along the northern and northwestern boundaries of what was ancient China for a distance of 2500 miles. But against present-day attack, the new French fortifications should prove almost infinitely more effective. With present-day equipment and techniques of warfare the Great wall could easily be shattered into dust, but the extent of the impression which could be made on the French system is a matter for question.

That the French were building a great system of fortifications along their eastern front was known almost a great ago. In fact, note of their activity in that regard was made in these columns about that long ago. But at that time the extent to which they were departing from the fortifications attending the World war was hardly appreciated. It was known that the new system was made up of three lines of defense, paralleled by a double-tracked line of railway with many lateral line leading to military depots, but that was about all.

Now it develops that the first line of defenses is made up of small forts, constructed of reinforced concrete, located five-eighths of a mile apart and in a line about ten or eleven miles back from the German frontier, save where the Rhine is the dividing line. Along the river they are so located as to command approach by means of it. All these small forts are about thirty by thirty-six feet in size and of two stories, and all are so camouflaged no two alike. To be hardly discernible, the tops of them being below the level of the ground. The armament of each is made up of two machine guns of such power that every fort will be within range of the forts on either side of it. All are equipped with electric lights, fresh water supply and telephones, and the sleeping and living quarters of the garrison of twelve men to man them are from forty to fifty feet under ground.
Supporting these "pill boxes" also are bigger works further back from the line armed with more powerful artillery and behind these, wherever the nature of the terrain makes their camouflaging possible, are great fortifications which may be ranked of the highest class.

But the greatest departure is a system of shelters behind the third line, some of which are fifty feet deep, where troops and materials can be assembled ready to reinforce any point and reach the objective point through the system of underground passageways.

And here's the great idea of the new system. The World war taught that the fighting worth of an army is doubled if it can rest in security. The entire system is designed to give troops this feeling of security, to give them shelters where they can feel secure from shell attack and their sleep and rest will be undisturbed.

It has been and almost daily is being charged that the French army is a threat to the peace of Europe. Possibly so, an army can be used in an offensive as well as on the defensive. But this can not be said for this new French system of fortifications under construction. No matter what the purpose in maintaining the army France does, this system can be used only for purposes of defense. The construction of such a system makes plain a national feeling which may well explain the gigantic mobile military machine the French maintain.

This Is Navy Day.

This is "Navy" day, a day set apart in which special effort will be made by patriotic organizations and groups to bring home to the entire citizenship of the country the real purpose of our navy, what it means to them and the support it must receive from them if it is to be and remain the "first line of defense" against assault by a foreign foe and the guardian, not only of our commerce upon the seas, but also the protector of American lives and American interests abroad.

If we are to have a merchant marine to carry our goods abroad, we must have a navy to protect it so long as other nations, even though they be minor nations, are equipped to prey upon our shipping.

While the necessity for preparedness was urged today and will be championed throughout the country tonight, we as a nation have for years held out to the world our willingness to cut naval armaments to the limit. As President Hoover has publicly stated, the United States will go as far as the other powers will agree to go in the matter of naval limitation.

It speaks well for the United States that, with the ability to build a navy preeminent on the seas, this country seeks no more than equality of sea power. And there's another tribute which can be paid alike to America and to the American navy. In all our history as a nation, the navy of the United States was never used unwisely.

Great Britain has succeeded to all a venments that during official visits to the capital of the former allies, memorial wreaths should not be laid on the tombs of the unknown soldiers of either war memorial, the idea being to create a memory of the great war.
It is a fact that Germany is credited with the power of making a nation to the other end will hardly prove a name to world peace.

President Hoover has stated an executive order placing the postoffice department of the United States under the supervision of the Federal Reserve Bank from which it was taken, the action taken by the President being designed to place the postoffice department under the Federal Reserve Bank, which will be the first time in the history of the United States
